

Lenard F. Boggio

Retired Partner,
PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP

Len Boggio retired from his role as audit partner with PricewaterhouseCoopers in 2012. During his thirty years at the firm, he provided services primarily to publicly listed companies, including those in the technology, mining and financial institutions industry sectors and in the final years of his career was the leader of the firm's British Columbia mining industry practice.

He graduated from the University of Windsor, Ontario with both a BA in Economics and Politics and a BComm in Accounting, earning a place on the President's Role of Scholars. He achieved a silver medal in BC and placed fifth in Canada in the Chartered Accountants uniform final examinations and is a Fellow Chartered Professional Accountant (FCPA,FCA).

Len has completed the national program of the Institute of Corporate Directors of Canada and earned his ICD.D designation. He serves as an independent director on the boards of several publicly listed companies and is a director of BC Hydro and Power Authority. He is a past president of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of BC (now the Chartered Professional Accountants of BC) and a past Chair of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants for the years from 2014 to 2016.

Visit genomebc.ca